Description

This is an intermediary contract for international sales in which prospective clients have been identified. The exporter (the Company), selects either an individual or a company (the Intermediary) in charge of the management, consulting and negotiation of precise operations with a formerly determined client (the Buyer). Once the operations are complete, the contract is finished.

Due to the sporadic nature of the contract, at the end of it, the Intermediary does not have the right to indemnity. Agreements of exclusivity or no competition are not established either.

The language of this contract is English. It is also available in Spanish.
